

BISBEE DAILY REVIEW

Published Every Day Except Monday

W. B. KELLY, Editor and Manager
F. V. FURNEY, AssociateCHIEF JUSTICE
STREET.

The El Paso Herald recently published a dispatch from Phoenix in which occurred the following paragraphs:

"Word has been received here from Webster Street, chief justice of the territory, who is now at Washington, that he has had a hearing before the interior department on charges preferred against him and is satisfied with the result."

"The charges preferred are that he has upon more than one occasion accepted bribes for rendering decisions in favor of certain litigants who were in his court. The most notable case is that of the King of Arizona mine, in which the mine was tied up for some time by an injunction. The suit was brought by S. Morgan Smith, who wanted heavy damages. It finally came to a jury trial and was decided in favor of the defendants."

"The other case was that of the Greene Consolidated company, which operates the Cananea property, acknowledged to be one of the biggest copper propositions in the world. After litigation which kept the mine idle a considerable time it was settled by a compromise."

"It has been the contention of Judge Street ever since the charges were brought against him that he did not render the decisions and could not have been the recipient of any bribe money. The other charges are of a minor nature and consist of cases of local interest. Among them is one involving the right to a water system in the Salt River valley. It is claimed that Judge Street was influenced in his decision by a monetary consideration."

However, on the 31st instant a special telegram from Washington to the Phoenix Enterprise was published in that paper, in which occurs the following:

"Webster Street, chief justice of Arizona, is still in Washington. He came here to answer charges filed against him and was given a hearing last week. At a conclusion of a review of the charges Judge Street asked to be given until January to prepare his defense. The request was granted."

The statements in the two dispatches are not necessarily conflicting, although to a casual reader they might appear so. Judge Street may have been satisfied with the hearing of his case by the interior department and yet have asked time in which to prepare his answer to the charges made against him, but his many old-time friends throughout the territory would have been much gratified had Judge Street answered at once and secured the thorough vindication which they are confident will be awarded him eventually, while all citizens of Arizona, irrespective of political affiliations, are disposed to warmly resent any aspersions upon the integrity of our judiciary, since such attacks upon that branch of our territorial government especially directly affect the honor and good name of the whole territory."

THE CZAROWITZ
GOES AWOLING.

The czar's brother, whose birthday was celebrated throughout Russia on Wednesday, is at present in England, and it is generally believed that his visit chiefly concerns pretty Princess Margaret, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, King Edward's only surviving brother. From a matrimonial viewpoint she is the most desirable princess in the whole European outfit of royalty. According to all accounts, the two most desirable young bachelors in royalty have been after her, and all she had to do was to make up her mind whether she preferred to be an empress of Germany or empress of Russia. The crown prince, however, seems to have dropped behind in the race, and it is predicted that Princess Margaret's betrothal to Grand Duke Michael will be announced as soon as the period of mourning for Empress Frederick is over.

The grand duke is rich and would be one of the best catches in Europe from a mother-in-law's viewpoint, even if the czar were blessed with the long-hoped-for son. In that case the grand duke would become her presumptive instead of her apparent. He is twenty-four years old.

M. O. MURPHY
AND THE GOVERNORSHIP

From an intelligent gentleman, usually well informed as to political affairs in this territory, who arrived in Bisbee within the past day or two from Phoenix, the REVIEW learns that the impression generally prevails there in administration circles that Col. Brodie will be appointed governor of Arizona within a few days. That President Roosevelt does not deem it necessary to remove Governor Murphy, on the ground that Mr. Murphy was appointed merely to fill the unexpired term of Myron H. McCord, which term has already expired. This position has been combatted by the Murphy partisans, but since it will let that gentleman down nicely and easily it will probably be accepted by him, especially so in view of the known personal desire of the president to appoint Brodie to the office.

OIL AS FUEL.

GRADUALLY the use of oil as fuel on ocean steamers is spreading. Among the latest converts to oil for this purpose is the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, which operates one of the most important steamship lines crossing the Atlantic Ocean. This company has just had two of its steamers fitted for oil burning. With the Texas and California fields as permanent sources of supply the day is not distant when practically the bulk of the steam vessels plying on the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans will utilize crude oil instead of coal for fuel. There are so many considerations of economy and convenience in favor of oil as fuel for deep sea vessels that the use of coal as a steam generator cannot long be deferred. As soon as the steamship people are satisfied that fuel oil can be abundantly and permanently and conveniently obtained liquid fuel will be supreme on the ocean. —Oil, Copper and Finance.

Shooting of Conductor

El Paso, Dec. 6.—A special dispatch to the Herald says: Conductor W. J. Stephens of the Sierra Madre line was shot at Casas Grandes the southern terminus of the road, by E. S. Stephens, the company's agent at that place, yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

No particulars of the shooting have reached this place other than in an altercation resulting from a personal quarrel agent Stephens shot conductor W. J. Stephens, the mistake striking and breaking one of the conductor's arms. The wounded conductor left this city in charge of the regular Sierra Madre train yesterday morning. He has no family, and as he is being well cared for at Casas Grandes it is not likely that he will be brought here for some time yet.

Agent Stephens was placed under arrest immediately and he notified the authorities of the road in Juarez of the trouble and arrest. The Mexican authorities were asked by the railroad company to allow the agent to remain in charge of the depot until a man to relieve him could be sent down. This request was complied with and Mr. Stephens is still attending to the company's business, but is under guard.

"Webster Street, chief justice of Arizona, is still in Washington. He came here to answer charges filed against him and was given a hearing last week. At a conclusion of a review of the charges Judge Street asked to be given until January to prepare his defense. The request was granted."
